

Bespoke Services

Metrology Instruments

While not an entirely new product line for us, our bespoke services for the manufacture or modification of metrology instruments is something we want to further promote to our customers.

Working with our partners, we can offer you instruments to your own specification while meeting relevant standards. We can also offer modifications to existing products including calipers. Typical industries we supply include rail, medical and quality control where accuracy plus reliability is essential.

All produced in house by our partner, meaning they have full control of the process from raw material to the final product to ensure superior quality.
