

Patterson & Rothwell's New Machines

As part of our move we have tested several new Injection Mould machines from several leading European Brands. The idea is to see which can out perform each other by running a selection of our existing tools and comparing the data with our current machines and then adding them to our fleet. It's a bit like a road test for cars but a bigger penalty if you get it wrong. Pictured are machines from Demag and Engel. Talking of road cars the machines were about the same value as a McLaren 12C so lets hope they have similar levels of performance. For further information on these machines and their capabilities please follow this link <http://www.patterson-rothwell.co.uk/news.htm>
